The Clan Macnaughton. This is one of the ancient Pictish families, and their lands lay in the district of Lorn, on the shore of Loch Awe, in Argyllshire. The clan fought at Flodden in 1513, where their chief was killed. The chieftainship is held by the Baronet of Dunderove, County Antrim, where a branch of the family settled. Lord Macnaughton, one of the Lords of Appeal, belongs to the chief line. The war cry was "Fraoch Tilean" (Heather Island), and the badge "Trailing Azalea."
